

Amedisys Partners with Medalogix to Drive Home Health Innovation

Investment in Nashville Based Predictive Analytics Platform

NASHVILLE, Tenn., (August 29, 2018) - Amedisys, Inc. (NASDAQ: AMED), America's leading independent home health, hospice care and personal care company, today announced it has made a minority equity investment in Medalogix, a Nashville based Home Health and Hospice predictive modeling and analytics company.

“We are extremely excited about our partnership with Medalogix,” said Paul Kusserow, President and CEO of Amedisys. “Aligning ourselves with such an innovative and powerful predictive analytics company will not only help to further optimize our current business and provide even better care to our patients, but also, positions us to succeed in new and differentiated payment models. The Medalogix platform helps drive patient insights needed for risk arrangements and better partnerships with Managed Care Organizations. We look forward to working with them to innovate new products, and helping to shape the strategic direction of the company.”

The “shift to value” in the healthcare industry is well underway. CMS has placed focus on the “three-part aim” to: 1) improve individual patient care; 2) provide better health outcomes for populations; and 3) reduce costs. With this charge, home health, guided by technology, stands as an obvious solution, especially as Medicare Advantage enrollment continues to rise and payors seek to form new partnerships that allow patients to receive care in the home and age in place.

“Our industry is in the midst of revolutionary change toward value-based care,” said Elliott Wood, President and CEO of Medalogix. “Healthcare providers who excel in this new world will do so by partnering with technology companies who have an aligned focus. We’re thrilled to partner with an innovative company like Amedisys who shares a common mission of optimal care for each patient. We look forward to working together to improve patient care through new paradigms for the industry.”

Amedisys partners alongside majority investor Coliseum Capital Management, LLC. Chris Shackelton, Chairman of the Medalogix Board and Managing Partner of Coliseum said, “Over the course of our four-year partnership with Medalogix, Elliott and his team have built a technology that is at the forefront of patient focused analytics in healthcare services. Our partnership with Amedisys, a forward-thinking provider with an aligned vision for value-based care, will expand our strategic capabilities as we continue to grow the industry’s only predictive analytics platform for home health.”
